The project is now at the juncture of entering its third phase since 2008 having more than ten years of operation, and producing more than 152 students who are serving in the government as well as other fields in different capacities. It may be pointed that the MPPG program combines the collaboration and partnership in international collaboration and active support from University of Bergen, Norway, University of Peradeniya, Sri Lanka, Tribhuvan University of Nepal, National Institute of Development Administration (NIDA), Thailand, and Royal University of Bhutan.
